The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. S. A. Wallis, of the Episcopal Theological Seminary. The church was tastefully decorated with palms, amaranth and a profusion of pink and white lilies. To the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin" the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage. Her gown was of ivory chamois, draped in and laced with tulle veil caught with a cluster of orange blossoms. Her flowers consisted of a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. The wedding march was played by Mr. A. H. Mori, of Washington.

Mrs. George Edward Pickett, of this city, was matron of honor. She wore white mesaline draped in embroidered chiffon, carried La France roses. Misses Lily and Grace Reid, sisters of the bridegroom, and Miss Ella Lee Dawdell, of Washington, were bridesmaids. They wore pink and green crepe metee satin with lace caps, and carried bridesmaids' roses.

Dr. B. A. Betts, of Raleigh, N. C., was the best man. The groomsmen were Mr. George E. Pickett, Mr. R. E. L. Rice, and Mr. T. A. Williams, of West Falls Church, Va. These serving as ushers were Mr. Hammond Carter Goodwin, of Richmond, Va., and Mr. George Leckby, of New York.

Following the wedding, a reception was tendered the bride couple, Mr. and Mrs. Reid afterward departed for a trip to Florida. The bride's going-away gown was a two whip cord in blue and green with hat to match.

The couple were the recipients of many handsome presents, among them being a chest of silver presented by the board of supervisors of Fairfax County.

Miss Agnes Harwood Marshall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacquelin Amherst Marshall, formerly of Markham, Fauquier County, but for several years past residents of this city, and Richard Blackburn Washington, were quietly married at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Christ Episcopal Church, Rev. William J. Morton, rector, officiating. The bride, who was unattended, was given in marriage by her father. Special Display and Rousing Sale Smart Easter Millinery

An unusual event made doubly interesting by a large special consignment of Hats from New York headquarters.

In the collection is a mightier-than-ever showing of

OUR SPECIAL, $8 Value, TRIMMED HATS, $5

and OUR SPECIAL, $10 Value, TRIMMED HATS, $7.50

As well as a large assemblage of hats ranging in price from $5.00 to $40.00.

These $5.00 and $7.50 Hats are the numbers that met with such marked approval that during our opening sale we were compelled to disappoint many Washington women, in not having a sufficient number on hand to meet the demand.

In order to guard against a recurrence of our inability to serve every one who called for either one of these two special feature hats, we have made sure that our showing for this great sale is sufficiently broad to cope with the big business we anticipate the coming week.

Every hat is our own creation; every one reflects some original, unique and thoroughly distinctive Paris idea. Every hat has that polish and dash that no word can quite describe, but which every fashionable woman appreciates above everything else in millinery.

Untrimmed Millinery.

Comprising all of the newest shapes and colors in Hemp, Milan, Tagar, Leghorn and Chip. These are most attractively priced for this unusual sale, ranging from $1.00 to $10.00.

BLESSING OF PALMS IN CHURCHES TO-DAY

Special Musical Programmes and Sermons Arranged—Holy Week Begins at Monastery.

"Hosannah to the son of David. Blessed is he who cometh in the name of the Lord."

With the blessing of palm branches, and the singing of psalms, commemorative of the triumphal entrance of Christ into Jerusalem, Palm Sunday is being celebrated by a number of Washington churches to-day. All the Catholic churches of the city, and a number of Protestant churches, will celebrate what is one of the principal religious feasts of the year. In the Catholic churches palms will be blessed and distributed among the congregations at high mass, and palm leaves will be given to Sunday school children in many of the Protestant churches. Special musical programmes and sermons have been prepared for the Episcopal churches.

At St. Paul's Catholic Church three priests from St. Thomas College, Brookland, will sing the psalms at high mass and the full choral choir of 100 men and boys will give the regular music of the mass under the direction of E. T. Winchester. Mr. Mackin, pastor of St. Paul's, will celebrate the mass.

No sermon will be preached at high mass at St. Patrick's Palm Sunday morning, but a short explanation of the meaning of the palms will be given. Mr. Rogers will preach at 7:20 p. m. at the last of the Sunday evening Lenten services.

The Franciscans will carry out in full the impressive ceremonies of Holy Week in their church of Mount St. Sepulchre, Brookland. Having within their church the representations of the principal shrines of Palestine, the ceremonies will be gone through as they are in Jerusalem. One noticeable digression from the ordinary sacred exercises of other churches will be the funeral of Christ, a function having a meaning and pathos peculiar to the localisation of the great tragedy of Calvary. In Jerusalem the Franciscan fathers have for many years held this solemn procession in honor of Christ crucified in the basilica of the Holy Sepulchre, and during the passage of the cortege through the church sermons are delivered in seven languages. At the monastery in Brookland the same ceremonies will be held, but there will be only four sermons. This service begins at 8 p. m.

Another interesting feature of the Holy Week services will be the ceremony of the resurrection on Saturday night at 8 o'clock. After the shafting of the office of the dooms of the sepulcher will be opened and the Blessed Sacrament borne in triumph to the high altar, where benediction will be given.

At the sale of the Nightingale porcelain at Christie's, London, a Bristol teacup and saucer, painted with figures of a woman in a blue dress, who was a very singularly and cover of Chinese enamel went for $60.

Views of Optimist and Pessimist.

From Julius Literary.

Hovell—Fortune knocks once at every man's door. Take, without hesitation, all that comes. If you are a pessimist, you will see only the bad side of things. If you are an optimist, you will see only the good side of things. The difference between the two is a matter of perspective. The optimist sees the glass half full, while the pessimist sees it half empty. The optimist sees the silver lining in every cloud, while the pessimist sees the dark side of every coin. The optimist is a person who is able to find the good in every situation, while the pessimist is a person who is able to find the bad in every situation. The optimist is a person who is able to see the future with hope and confidence, while the pessimist is a person who is able to see the future with fear and despair. The optimist is a person who is able to live in the present and enjoy the moment, while the pessimist is a person who is able to live in the past and regret the things that have happened. The optimist is a person who is able to face the future with courage and determination, while the pessimist is a person who is able to face the future with doubt and uncertainty. The optimist is a person who is able to see the world as it is, while the pessimist is a person who is able to see the world as he wishes it to be. The optimist is a person who is able to see the world as a place of opportunity, while the pessimist is a person who is able to see the world as a place of adversity. The optimist is a person who is able to see the world as a place of beauty, while the pessimist is a person who is able to see the world as a place of ugliness. The optimist is a person who is able to see the world as a place of joy, while the pessimist is a person who is able to see the world as a place of sorrow. The optimist is a person who is able to see the world as a place of love, while the pessimist is a person who is able to see the world as a place of hate. The optimist is a person who is able to see the world as a place of peace, while the pessimist is a person who is able to see the world as a place of war. The optimist is a person who is able to see the world as a place of harmony, while the pessimist is a person who is able to see the world as a place of discord.
